Research Graduate Programs

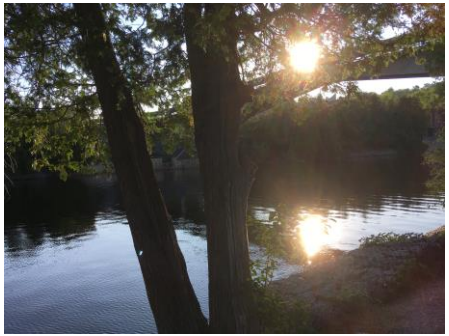
September, January & May 28th

Graduate tuition fees vary between research/thesis-based programs and professional programs. Students are responsible to refer to the fee schedules posted.

Fees for graduate studies are billed per term or per course (programs vary) and fees are based upon year of entry into a graduate program at Trent University.

Please review the Graduate Academic Calendar for further information.

Your Student Account



Your account statement is available online through your MyTrent portal.

Students can access their Statement of Account under Finances>My Account>Statement of Account.

Your student account is maintained by the University's secure student system. It is where we charge all your fees and your payments are received. It is important to review your statement of account regularly, especially after any change of status or term registration.

All students must register and pay fees at the beginning of their program of study and must maintain continuous registration and fee payment (except during approved leaves) until degree requirements have been completed and notification of approval to convocate has been received.

A $75 late payment fee will be levied if payment is not made by any fee payment deadline date for any academic term.

Additional Living Expenses

- It is essential as a graduate student that you have sufficient funds to support yourself over the duration of your studies. Current annual costs for a graduate student living away from home including living expenses and books are estimated at $20,000 - $25,000 per year – this does not include tuition fees. Additional costs may be incurred depending on factors such as lifestyle and the number of family members being supported (if applicable).

- In addition to living expenses, students are required to pay tuition fees for each term of enrollment.
