

Indigenous Studies TA Workshops 2009-10

These workshops are open to TA's in Department of Indigenous Studies or those who teach Indigenous Students. It will be comprised of three workshops over the fall term devoted to issues surrounding teaching in a multi-cultural classroom, cross-cultural dialogue and teaching tradition in a university environment.

These workshops are designed to foster excellence in individuals new to university teaching or new to working in an indigenous environment. They are conducted by highly experienced faculty and graduate students who have learned well from their experience.

1. Tuesday September 08, 2009

The Art, Heart and Mind of teachin: 24 thoughts on growing as a teacher with Lorne Ellingson

2. Tuesday, September 22, 2009

Teaching Tradition with Dan Longboat and Skehendowaneh Swamp

3. Tuesday, October 13, 2009

Challenging and Re-imagining the Role of the Teaching Assistant and Cross-Cultural Dialogues with Robin Quantick

4. Tuesday, November 10, 2009

Academic Integrity and Indigenous Traditions – David Newhouse

5. Tuesday, November 21, 2009

Student support issues in Indigenous Studies teaching - TBA

All sessions are held from 7pm until 9pm in the First Peoples Gathering Space