The Symons Trust Fund for Canadian Studies

LEARNING TO MAKE A WORLD OF DIFFERENCE™

The Symons Trust Fund for Canadian Studies was established in 1995 by friends and colleagues of Thomas H.B. Symons, the founding President of Trent University, to honour and to continue his work in the field of Canadian Studies. The purpose of The Symons Trust is to support and enhance the study of Canada, especially, though not exclusively, at Trent University. Under the direction of its Committee of Trustees, the Trust provides funding to support imaginative new activities, to act as seed money for worthy new endeavours, or to foster important long range projects.

Applications, which are welcome from any and all disciplines, programs, or individuals, are evaluated by the Trustees in terms of their originality, quality, and potential contribution to the study of Canada. Funding from The Symons Trust Fund for Canadian Studies is disbursed annually by the President of the University on the recommendation of the Committee of Trustees.

Eligibility

Applications are welcome from individuals, groups, departments, and programs within Trent University. Applications from outside the University are also eligible, provided that the research or activity is based at Trent or has some appropriate association with the University.

Application Procedures

No formal application procedures or forms are required. A letter of application accompanied by a comprehensive statement of intent and a detailed breakdown of anticipated expenses and funding sources should be addressed to The Symons Trust Fund for Canadian Studies, Catharine Parr Traill College, Trent University.

All applications should include the following information:

- covering letter stating generally the purpose, distinctiveness, and potential contribution of the proposed research or activity to the study of Canada
- detailed description of the proposed research or activity
- detailed breakdown of anticipated expenses
- list of any other funding sources to which application is being made for full or partial assistance for the proposed research or activity

Applications concerning graduate student thesis research will be supported on an exceptional basis where the proposed research involves travel or other extraordinary expenses and where the thesis or work product is expected to provide some general benefit to the community as a result of publication or otherwise. Applications must be accompanied by a supporting reference from the thesis supervisor. Additional guidance for graduate student applicants is available at: www.trentu.ca/administration/presidentsoffice_symons.php.
