

Communications at Trent

The ability to understand how we communicate with one another across multiple platforms is an integral part of our world. Trent’s Communications degree offered exclusively at our Durham GTA campus allows you to develop the skills and expertise you need to stand out in a competitive job market. The ability to think critically and responsively about the ever-changing landscape for professional communicators, dominated by social media innovation, is a much-valued skill.

Communications encourages students to develop and refine durable and transferable skills, prized by a variety of employers by combining a few required courses—in project management, writing, research, and numeracy, for example—with relevant courses from other programs, you will learn to become a creative, logical, and integrative thinker and expert communicator.

These explorations can take place both in the classroom and beyond – through the Communications Co-op program, you can put skills to action across three paid work terms in professional settings.

Communications Co-op

Co-op is an opportunity for students to gain work-integrated experiential learning that will help them get a head start on a career. The Communications Co-op assists graduating students in achieving a competitive edge while generating experience within a wide range of sectors. Specifically, co-op gives the students a chance to obtain 12 months of practical experience on the job, develop or enhance technical skills, explore career options, network with a variety of individuals and organizations, learn from mentors and tutors, enhance communication and presentation skills, and develop technical writing skills.

Communications Co-op is a competitive direct-entry program with a limited number of spaces.

Please Note: Co-op is meant to prepare students for the real-world job application process and as such, the co-op process is competitive and dependent upon many factors including market conditions, the student's efforts to secure a work term, and the academic performance of a student. Every effort is made to find suitable co-op work terms for students, but a work term opportunity cannot be guaranteed for every student. Co-op students will secure positions through successful participation in the co-op interview process and/or their own job search activities. It is preferred that no more than two of the three work terms are with the same employer. Withdrawal from the co-op program will not normally be approved while a student is on a work term.

Students who are unable to obtain a suitable co-op opportunity in an upcoming work term are expected to continue with their academic program on a full-time basis. A missed work term can be made up. If a co-op student is unable to complete three work terms yet otherwise fulfills degree requirements, they will be awarded an Honours Bachelor of Arts in Communications.

Students do not pay tuition during each work term. Instead, students are required to pay co-op fees plus ancillary fees and levies. The Co-op Assistance Program is available to support students in financial need with co-op expenses. For more information, please reach out to coop@trentu.ca.

International Students are required to complete co-op work terms that are integral to their academic program must apply for a co-op work permit. Please reach out to internationaladvising@trentu.ca for more support.
